The team chooses which member makes the first throw on the first hole. Each team member then throws from the lie resulting from the previous team member's throw, and so forth.

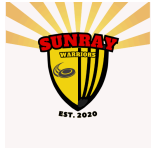

- A team completes a hole when either team member completes the hole.
- The score for a team on a hole is the number of throws by that team, plus any penalty throws.
- A throw by the incorrect team member is a misplay and incurs one penalty throw. The throw is disregarded, and the correct team member throws. If an additional throw has been made after the incorrect team member has thrown, the team receives two penalty throws, and play continues.
- For any re-throw from the same lie, the same player makes the re-throw.

- of the resulting positions the team will play from, and so on.
- See “Tough Throw” Variation to complete the hole.
- The score for a team on a hole is the number of throws for the lies that were played, plus any penalty throws.
- If a team picks up or marks a thrown disc before their opponents have chosen a lie, the disc is replaced to its original position as agreed upon by the group. The opponents then choose between the resulting lie of the moved disc, the lie of the other disc, and the previous lie as the lie for the moved disc.
- If the opponents choose a clearly favorable lie, they may be disqualified by the Director.
